

ISA School Leadership Team

James Anderson
Head of School

James graduated with a Masters in Leadership and Administration from the University of Central Oklahoma and a Bachelors of Education from the University of Georgia in the United States. He has taught in the US, Senegal, Cameroon, Kuwait and Russia. He has served in School Leadership positions at international schools in Taiwan, the USA, Azerbaijan and Indonesia. James has also worked as an Educational Consultant in Asia, Africa, Europe and America. He is passionate about growing schools that utilize problem-based learning and he strongly supports the idea of a school as a community of learners. He believes in partnering with families to educate the whole child, preparing for life.

James is married and has one adult son (a product of international education) that currently resides in the USA. In his spare time he enjoys outdoor sports, collecting ancient trading beads and bird-watching.

Lesi Anderson
Director of Curriculum

Lesi graduated with a Masters in Administration and Curriculum from the University of Central Oklahoma, a Bachelor of Middle School Education and Bachelor of Science in Cartography from the University of Georgia. She also completed a certificate in Urban Planning from Georgia State University. After six years as a Cartographer and Civil Engineer, Lesi went back to university to pursue a degree in Education and Curriculum. She has taught in international schools in Senegal, Cameroon, Kuwait, Russia and Taiwan. Lesi has worked as a Curriculum Director at schools in the US, Azerbaijan and Indonesia. Along with her husband James, they have assisted schools as consultants in Asia, Africa, Europe and America. She enjoys working with teachers, families and the community, as she believes we all have something to learn from one another in our walk through life. In her after school hours Lesi enjoys time with her family, experiencing the outdoors, gardening and volunteering.

Noha Saba
Principal

Noha Saba received her Bachelor degree in Education and a Teaching Diploma from Lebanese American University in Beirut. She has thirty years of experience in the field of education and began her career as a homeroom Teacher in the Lower Elementary at East Wood College, Lebanon. Following that assignment, she served as head of the Lower Elementary Department (KG1-Grade 3) at Valley International School and City International School. Ms. Saba worked as a School Consultant with SDC (School Development Consultant) in Lebanon. She also planned and conducted trainings and workshops for teachers in different international schools in and out of Lebanon. Additionally, Ms. Saba has taken part in the accreditation process in two different schools and participated in a NEASC accreditation visit that was conducted in Kazakhstan. Since 2016, she has served as Principal of ISA (International School of Africa). In her free time, Ms. Saba is active in community service in Lebanon and Djibouti.
